

LAUNCESTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE CHAMBER WEBSITE TERMS & CONDITIONS

Terms of Use

By using the Launceston Chamber of Commerce ("The Chamber") website, you agree to comply with these Terms of Use and consent to the use of your personal information in accordance with our Privacy Policy. We may change these terms of use at our discretion and without notice. By continuing to use this website you accept the terms of use as they apply from time to time.

Intellectual Property Rights

This site is protected by copyright owned by or licensed to The Chamber, and logos and trademarks. You may download and print content from this website for your own personal or internal business purposes only, however you must not adapt, amend or take out of context any part of the content on this website without our prior written consent.

Information is not Legal Advice

The content on our website is intended only to provide a summary and general overview on matters of interest. It is not intended to be comprehensive, or to constitute legal, commercial investment or financial advice. You should always obtain legal or other professional advice that is appropriate to your circumstances, before acting upon or relying on any of that content. Use of this website, or the receipt of any information from us or this website, is not intended to create and does not create any relationship between us.

Liability Exclusion

To the maximum extent permitted by law, we will not be liable to any person or entity for any direct, indirect, consequential or other loss or damage (howsoever caused, including due to negligence) which may arise out of, or in connection with, the use of this website or the use or reliance on information, including any publication contained on or linked to from this website. We do not endorse or accept any liability for the contents of any website referred to on, or linked to from, this website. Although we aim to ensure the content on this website is up to date, there may be delays, errors or omissions that could affect its currency or accuracy. We may change the content on this website at any time without notice.

The website and its content are provided entirely "as is". We exclude all implied conditions and warranties with respect to the website and its contents, and your use of this website, and your reliance on its content, is entirely at your own risk.

15 April 2015

Security

The transmission of information over the internet is not completely secure or error free. In particular, emails to or from The Chamber and information submitted to or access via this website may not be secure and you should use discretion in deciding what information you send to us via these means. Emails may undergo email filtering and virus scanning, including by third party contractors. We do not warrant that such filters and scans will be effective in removing viruses or other potentially harmful code.

Third Party Links

Our website (or social media websites on which we maintain a presence) may contain links to other sites over which we have no control. Those links are provided for your convenience only, and we are not responsible for their use, effect or content. We make no representations or warranties as to, and accept no responsibility for, the accuracy of information on those sites, nor do we endorse any information, opinions, goods or services referred to on them.

Cookies

We may use cookies to identify your computer on our server and so we can track your use of this website. In some instances cookies may collect and store personal information about you. Such information will only be used by The Chamber in accordance with our privacy policy.

Governing Law

These terms of use, and your use of our website, are governed by the laws of Tasmania, Australia.